The river runs
Poisoned

I think the river is poisoned because people throw trash and labels in the river. At the mill the stuff in the smoke drops into the water and pollutes it.

A River Run Colors

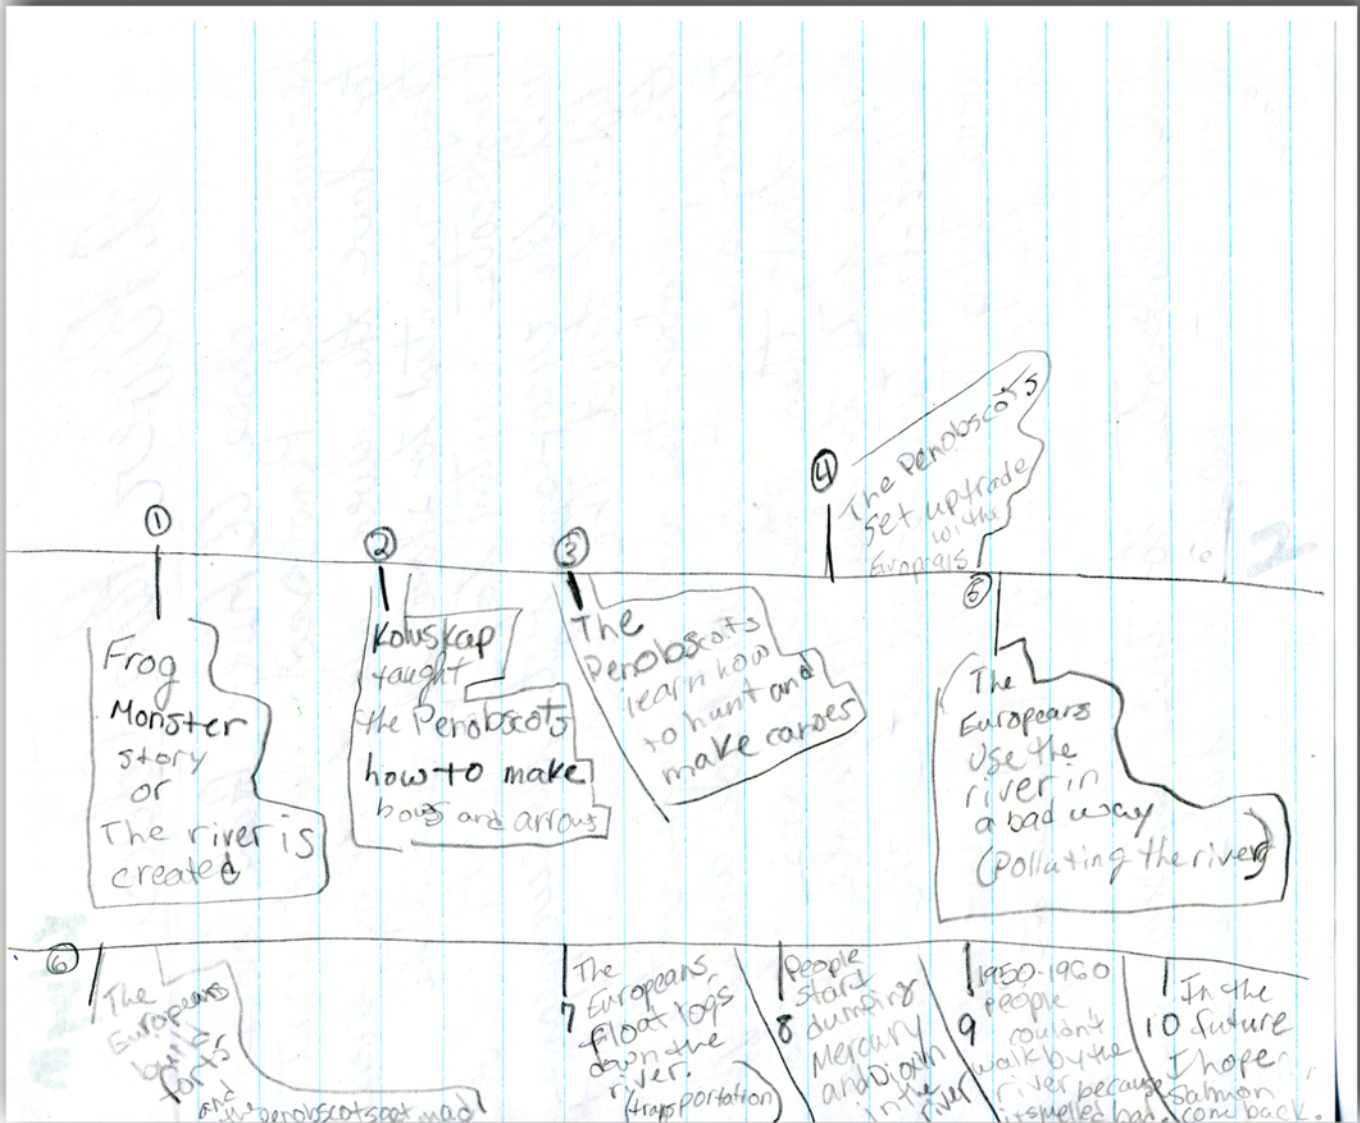

I chose A River Run Colors because the Penobscots didn't want to have the river all to themselves. They wanted to share the river. The Penobscots wanted to share the river with the Europeans but the Europeans didn't trust the Penobscots. At first the Penobscots were friends with the Europeans setting up trade and stuff like that, then the Europeans started making forts to keep the Penobscots out.

What I'm trying to get at is the Penobscots were trying to make friends and Kolumbas said "Share the river." "Don't keep for yourself."

The Penobscots to this day share the river with people, all shapes, colors and sizes.

Reasons for being the title

→ I think that the title should be The River Ran Hopeful because everybody is dying from the toxin in the river and people are hopeful that it will get better. Also people want to drink clean water from the river, just like they did before.
Finally if the river doesn't clean up all the animals will die that drink the water from the river.
